

RECORD-PRESS PIANO CONTEST

Closes Saturday October 29 at six o'clock P. M. Just Nine more Days to Work

The Record-Press Piano Contest will close next Saturday week at six o'clock p. m., after which the ballot box will be placed in the hands of the judges and the count made which will perhaps last but a couple of hours, as there is known to be but two active contestants for the grand prize, the others having all dropped back since the last count. Of course these other candidates will come in for the other five nice $10.00 and $15.00 prizes and it behooves them to get a move on themselves as they are all worth winning.

$1.00 brings 500 votes.
$5.00 brings 5,000 votes
$10.00 brings 15,000 votes
$20.00 brings 40,000 votes
$25.00 brings 60,000 votes

This means these votes will be allowed to any one turning in these amounts and be sent to as many yearly addresses as the number of dollars represent.

The time is short and a failure upon your part to work while there is time might lose your friend the piano or one of the other nice prizes.

THE AERIAL DERELICT

When wicked and malicious aspersions begin to assail the record of Dr Cook, a couple of his votaries in this city cheered him with a message breathing faith and encouragement. Back came the word of uplift from the maligned hero: "Thanks for expression of confidence. Time will show that it is not misplaced."

Much the same need of aid in a dark hour must be felt by Walter Wellman, whose overseas venture has ended in a commonplace rescue, while the craft, to which he had pinned his hopes, soars majestically into space an aerial derelict.

We can all rejoice that this novel attempt "to sail through the air, across water 3,000 miles" came to no catastrophic close, while, at the same time, we may wonder that it should be necessary for his backers to protest, again and again, his perfect sincerity, his courage and his skill.

For, be it remembered, the disinclination to take this jaunt with a traveling balloon as a serious contribution to the science of aviation; the evident and general disposition to treat the whole matter as a freak of publicity, amazing, rather than appalling, is not to be denied and cannot be overlooked. Some people believed they could detect an unnecessary amount of attitudinizing; they regarded the Spitzbergen adventure in the light of a trial balloon, and to-day they are nodding their heads wisely and waggishly to the tune of "I told you so!"

Into that phase of the unlucky attempt we do not care to enter. Mr. Wellman has met a misadventure, and what is worse, a disappointment, with such pluck, fortitude and resourcefulness as it would be ungracious to question. Our concern is only with the utility of the flight in the event of its success. Spectacular it would have been, without doubt, but serving a good and useful purpose—hardly? As Samuel Johnson remarked of the bear that danced on its hind legs: "But why should he do it?"

It was Mr. Wellman's notion, set forth in the New York Times, that he was about to advance the cause of international peace, by making "armed conflict almost inconceivably terrible and ruinous." Not as agogies, but as armadas, he saw the aerial fleets of the future. Such was, in fact, the prophetic view of the poet laureate, who "saw the heavens fill with commerce argosies of magic sails, Pilots of the purple twilight, dropping down with costly bales;

Heard the heavens fill with shouting, and there rained a ghastly dew From the nations' airy navies grappling in the central blue."

And to the happy realization of nobler half of that vision much is being done in these later days, and never more than when, on Sunday last, the Clement-Bayard, a dirigible balloon, made a six-hour trip from Compiegne, near Paris, to London with seven passengers.

That was, emphatically, a feat worth while. But it made no noise. It was blanketed by the better-advertised exploits of Whittington—we beg pardon, Wellman and his cat.

FORCED TO LEAVE HOME

Every year a large number of poor sufferers whose lungs are sore and racked with coughs are urged to go to another climate. But this is costly and not always sure. There's a better way. Let Dr. King's New Discovery cure you at home. "It cured me of lung trouble," writes W. R. Nelson, of Calamine, Ark., "when all else failed and I gained 48 pounds in weight. Its surely the King of all cough and lung cures." Thousands owe their lives and health to it. Its positively guaranteed for Coughs, Colds, Lagrippe, Asthma, Croup—all lung troubles 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottle free at Jas. Orme and Haynes & Taylor's drug Stores.

MEN FLEE WHEN GIRLS TELL TALE

White Slave Case Exposed at Paducah—Prominent Men Sought by Officers

As a direct result of the recovery of Ethel Vinson and Marie Blalock, the two fourteen-year-old girls who were found near Grand Forks Wednesday afternoon by Chief of Police McCullon, of Kuttawa, warrants were sworn out before Judge William Patterson at Murray yesterday afternoon against nineteen prominent men in the farming district, who have had more or less serious relations with the two girls. Several of the men, for whom the police are now searching, are said to be married, and besides the more serious charge, they will also be tried for the alleged furnishing of liquor to the two girls.

George Tidewell, the itinerant photographer, who was their companion during the five days spent in the cabin on the shores of the Tennessee was arraigned before Judge Patterson yesterday morning and after the affidavits of the two girls had been read, was held in bond of $500 to await the action of the grand jury. He will be charged with the unlawful enticing and kidnapping of the girls for the purpose of placing them in houses of ill-fame in St. Louis or Kansas City, the girls declaring that he promised that he could find positions for them there. Tidewell maintains that he is innocent of the charges brought against him. "I did not meet the girls until the day after they left their homes," he declares. "I then tried to persuade them to return home, but the girls said that they wouldn't do so and wanted to travel with me and see some of the country. I merely took them with me as solicitors in my photograph work."

The Vinson girl is said to be an orphan, and when told that she would have to be sent to a reformatory, cried bitterly and revealed the whole story of her relations with young men of the country. She promised, however, to forsake her past waywardness if given another opportunity and she was placed in charge of a probation officer pending a continuation of good behavior. The Blalock girl is the daughter of Robert Blalock, a well-known farmer near Murray, and was returned to his care, with the injunction that her future must be modeled along lines far different from those she has exhibited in the past.

FOR BALD HEADS

A Treatment That Costs Nothing if it Fails

We want you to try three large bottles of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic on our personal guarantee that the trial will not cost you a penny if it does not give you absolute satisfaction. That's proof of our faith in this remedy, and it should indisputably demonstrate that we know what we are talking about when we say that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will grow hair on bald heads, except where baldness has been of such long duration that the roots of the hair are entirely dead, the follicles closed and grown over, and the scalp is glazed.

Remember, we are basing our statements upon what has already been accomplished by the use of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic, and we have the right to assume that what it has done for thousands of others it will do for you. In any event you cannot lose anything by giving it a trial on our liberal guarantee. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store, Haynes & Taylor.

The above is a picture of the Wellington piano to be given away October 29, to the lady securing the greatest number of votes in the Record-Press Prize Contest.

For fear the Company we first traded with would not give us such a piano as we wanted the winner to have, especially as they refused to ship it before the contest was over, that it might be inspected, we ordered this one through the Yates Bros. Agency here and it is now on exhibition at the Yandell-Gugenheim Co's store.

Remember the next count comes off next Saturday week for the ten dollars in gold to be given the one making the greatest gain since the count in July.

"Two bottles Cured My Rheumatism"

"I have been a sufferer from rheumatism for about two years, and have used many liniments and patent medicines which gave me no relief. A lady friend of mine told me she had used your Liniment and found relief at once. I got two bottles and they cured me. I think it is the best Liniment a person can have in the house. I shall always keep a bottle in my house as long as I can get it."—Mrs. E. R. WALLACE, Morrisons, Va.

Another Letter.

Mrs. JAMES MCGRAW, of 1216 Mandeville St., New Orleans, La., writes:—"I take pleasure in writing to you that I had a pain in my arm for five years, and I used
